How does the laser treatment work?

The laser creates a beam of high-intensity light that penetrates deep into skin tissue where it delivers a controlled amount of therapeutic heat. Candela's patented Dynamic Cooling Device™ (DCD™) technology protects the upper layers of your skin with a cooling burst of cryogen. Together, the long-pulse laser and DCD cooling offer optimal treatment with minimal side effects.

What can I expect during treatment?

Treatment will take place in our office. You will wear safety eyewear to protect your eyes from the laser light. Our practitioner will guide the laser to the treatment areas with a small hand-held probe. Each laser pulse may be preceded and followed by a short pulse of cooling spray. A treatment could take as little as a few minutes to as long as an hour, depending on the area and condition being treated.

Does it hurt?

Some patients may feel slight discomfort with the laser pulse, sometimes described as the snapping of a rubber band on the skin. This discomfort is minimized by Candela's CDC cooling. For some patients, a topical anesthetic may be used prior to treatment. Be sure to discuss this with our practitioner.

How many treatment sessions will I need?

The number of sessions depends on the treatment you require and the condition of your skin. For hair removal, most people require at least 2 to 3 treatments, as the process is only effective when the hair follicle is at its active growth phase. Other conditions may clear in as few as one treatment, but many factors impact the efficacy of the individual laser treatments, including the severity of the condition being treated.

How do I prepare for treatment?

Patients scheduled for hair removal should avoid electrolysis or hair waxing for six weeks prior to treatment. If you have had a history of perioral herpes and are scheduled for facial hair treatment, prophylactic antiviral therapy may be prescribed. Also, any hair should be shaved, and your skin should be thoroughly cleaned and dried, removing any make-up, cream or oils on its surface before laser treatment.

What can I expect after treatment?

Patients should avoid sun exposure before and after treatments, and should apply sunblock (spf 30 or above) when going outdoors.

Are there side effects?

Your risks are minimal. Side effects may include purpura (a laser bruise), redness, blistering, hyperpigmentation, hypopigmentation, and swelling in the treated area – these usually do not last more than a few days. Permanent side effects, such as hyperpigmentation or hypopigmentation or scarring are rare.

What precautions should I take after treatment?

After laser treatment, avoid sun exposure. In the first few days after treatment, don't scrub or rinse the treated area with abrasive skin cleansers. Our practitioner may advise additional precautions.

Are these treatments covered by insurance?

Most insurance companies do not offer reimbursement for cosmetic procedures. Some carriers will, however, cover the treatment for disfiguring birthmarks such as hemangiomas. Consult your insurance carrier for conclusive information.

Laser Pricing

Hair removal generally takes three to six treatments, four weeks apart. It usually results in permanent hair reduction (no treatment can guarantee permanent removal).

Our pricing is available on a per treatment basis or on a discounted advance payment basis. We price on the basis of the size of the area being treated. The following are introductory prices:
